Download and Install

Go to <https://maps.cise.jmu.edu>, click the link for ArcGIS & Esri Licensing, Agree to the Esri Terms of Service, log in using your JMU eID and password, and finally Download ArcGIS Pro 3.1. As of ArcGIS version 3.0, you will also need the Microsoft .Net Desktop Runtime 6.0: <https://dotnet.microsoft.com/en-us/download/dotnet/6.0>.

The image shows a multi-step process for downloading ArcGIS Pro. It features three overlapping browser windows and a Windows Security dialog box.

- Top-left window: A browser window showing the "Geography web services" page on <https://maps.cise.jmu.edu>. The page has a navigation menu with sections for "Websites", "Services", and "Documentation". The "Services" section includes a link for "ArcGIS & Esri Licensing (login required)".
- Top-right window: A browser window displaying the "Esri License Agreement" page. It features the "Esri Educational Site License" section with a red warning: "These resources are licensed through JMU as part of a State License Agreement with Esri and are for educational use only. For-profit use is strictly prohibited." Below this, it provides links to "Esri's Educational Site License Program Overview", "the Permitted Uses Letter", and "the Memorandum of Understanding".
- Bottom-right window: A browser window showing the "Licensed Products" section of the license agreement. It lists "ArcGIS Desktop Downloads" with sub-links for "ArcGIS Desktop 10.6.1", "ArcGIS Desktop 10.7.1", "ArcGIS Desktop 10.8", "ArcGIS Pro 2.5", "Full Install Listing", and "ISO Download Archive". It also lists "Esri Patches & Service Packs", "Esri Data & Maps", and "Esri Spatial ARS".
- Bottom-left dialog box: A "Windows Security" dialog box titled "Microsoft Edge". It states: "The server maps.cise.jmu.edu is asking for your user name and password. That server also reports: 'Please enter your JMU eID and password.'" It contains input fields for the username "dukedog" and a masked password field, with "OK" and "Cancel" buttons at the bottom.

The URL https://maps.cise.jmu.edu/installs/ArcGIS%20Pro%202.5/ArcGISPro_25_172639.exe is visible at the bottom of the rightmost browser window.

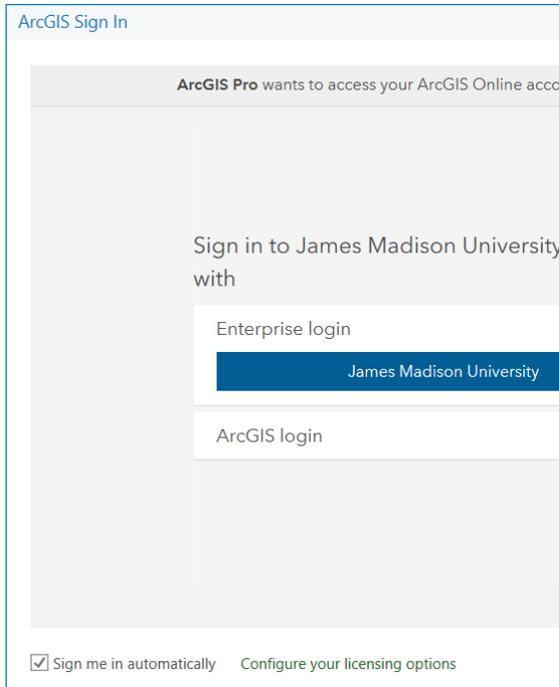

Logging into ArcGIS Pro

To sign in, click the option at the initial loading screen, at the project creation screen, or at the top-right corner of the main window. In the Sign In windows, click the button for “Enterprise login”.

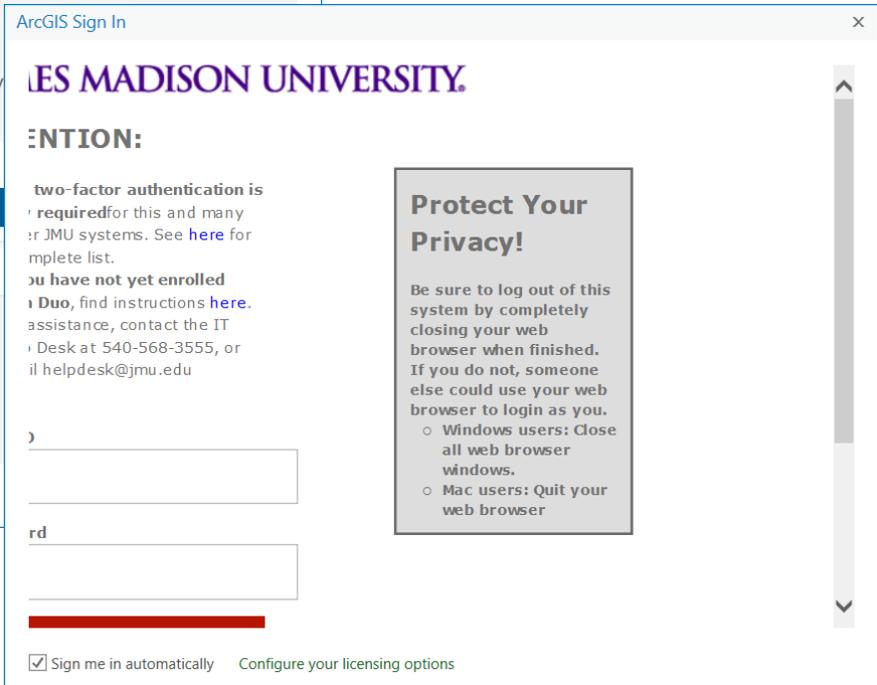

Specify our organization’s URL as “jmu” and continue.

Click the button to sign in “Using your James Madison University Account”.

Finally, enter your JMU eID and password.

The page may appear partly hidden. Simply click into each field and type your eID, password, then scroll down and click the “Log in” button.
